Objective

To provide information about responsible drinking.

Description

The consumer information website was launched mid-2014 and was revamped in 2017. It provides summary information on the benefits of moderate alcohol consumption and a healthy attitude to alcohol. It contains sections on:

- 0-Tolerance: Provides information on the groups that should not drink – Under 18's, pregnant women and drivers.
- The energy content of alcohol: Provides information on the amount of calories in a drink and how to calculate them.
- Track your spending: Provides information on how to keep track of the number of drinks consumed, how to calculate BAC levels and what a standard drink is.
- Ask the expert: Through a series of questions and answers, experts provide advice to parents about how to talk to their children about alcohol, How to apply moderate drinking to a restaurant situation and How to keep safe when boating.

In addition, when users arrive on the site, a pop-up encourages them to check how much they know about alcohol by taking the Responsible Drinking Quiz #RDQ.
